

ABBS Strengthens International Academic Collaboration with International University of Kyrgyz Republic

Acharya Bangalore B School \(ABBS\) Bengaluru, India has entered into a Memorandum of Understanding (MoU) with the International University of Kyrgyz Republic (IUKR), marking another step in its efforts to expand international academic cooperation, research and cross-cultural learning.

Signed on 3rd August 2026, the MoU establishes a framework for mutually beneficial collaboration between ABBS and IUKR, with a focus on academic development, student mobility, faculty engagement and research.

A key area of the partnership is the development of progression pathways, enabling eligible students from both institutions to pursue postgraduate or other agreed academic programmes at the partner institution, subject to applicable admission requirements.

The collaboration will also explore hybrid delivery of academic and professional courses and the establishment of a Faculty of International Studies, with potential academic focus areas including Business Analytics, Artificial Intelligence, Entrepreneurship, Innovation, Digital Business, Sustainability and International Business.

The MoU further provides for semester-based study abroad programmes, allowing students to undertake academic studies at each institution with appropriate credit recognition. ABBS and IUKR will also explore joint research projects, publications, faculty exchange and collaborative academic events, including international conferences, seminars and workshops.

The partnership includes opportunities for short-term international immersion programmes, industry visits, internships, corporate engagement and academic resource sharing, creating avenues for experiential learning and knowledge exchange.

Through its collaboration with IUKR, ABBS continues to strengthen its global academic network and create opportunities for students and faculty to gain international exposure, cross-cultural learning and collaborative academic experiences.
